Walmart – stocker 11/2019 – 8/2021

At Walmart I was a CAP2 associate for almost 2 years. I stocked shelves and unloaded trucks of general merchandise. During a normal shift I would clock in, check in with my manager and start stocking. Working the weekends, I was usually on the truck, but during the weekdays I only had to stock. I also had to answer questions from customers about where things are at, do we have any more in the back, and do you know when you are getting more in stock. I learned and memorized almost every item in the store. I also made new friends and acquaintances from the people that came and went from Walmart while I was working there.

Main Event – server 5/2022 – 8/2022

Main Event is a video game arcade like place like Dave and Busters that has bowling, laser tag and an arcade. I worked as a server, and I learned a lot of important life skills including communication, teamwork, and multitasking. I also learned that not everything will come to you right away. I used communication whenever I had to ask the chef for something extra or asking for help from one of the service supports for help. Building on that teamwork is learned through everyone working together to give customers the best service possible. Jumping right in to be a server is a lot to take in since it requires one to juggle lots of things at the same time. Putting in drink/food orders, checking up on tables, and making sure they are receiving their orders on time.

Loaves and Fishes 11/2022 – Present

On the last Thursday of the month, I volunteered at loaves and fishes in Columbia, MO. Loaves and Fishes is a food bank that serves underprivileged people. I would do this through my church group called Ukirk, and we would get there early enough to set up tables and chairs along with preparing the food to be served. At the end we would also clean up everything. This was a nice opportunity to see how privileged I am and no matter how bad I think my life is it could always be worse. I also met some nice people that do this a lot more than I do and that is always good to see.
